

New Website Released

Thursday, May 08 2008 12:00 - Last Updated Thursday, May 08 2008 07:45

Welcome to our new updated website. We have been working most of the 07-08 school year setting up our new presence on the Internet. As you can see, we have made quite a few changes. You will find many useful additions and updates to the site. We plan to continually update the site to provide you with the most current information, to enhance the site by adding more information, and to add new features that will make the site easier to use. We appreciate your patience as we work to make our new site your destination for all information about Washington Community Schools.
